Annual Report 2020/21
Delivering hope throughout the COVID-19 pandemic
OPEN TO SERVE
A note from our Executive Director

HOPE House serves Guelph’s most vulnerable people - the unhoused and housed, the employed and the unemployed, those suffering a new, bewildering setback and those dealing with chronic, more complicated issues of poverty.

Over the last year our work became even more urgent as our community dealt with the crushing effects of COVID-19. Individuals already living in poverty faced greater hardship while demand for our services increased 20%: an additional 447 households relied on HOPE House to feed themselves and their families. More than a third of those benefiting from our services were children under 18 years of age.

COVID-19 also highlighted the isolation, job loss and stress that are contributing to already chronic mental health concerns in our community.

HOPE House was one of a few agencies in Guelph allowed to remain open to the public throughout the pandemic. In this annual report we want to share some of the ways we met the challenges that faced our community in a troubling year.

Our staff and volunteers are central to our success, whether we’re in a pandemic or not. HOPE House provides individuals and families with immediate relief from the circumstances of poverty, beginning with access to food and clothing. Our staff and volunteers also strive to empower our community members to find employment, start businesses, rebuild relationships, overcome addiction, rely less on our overwhelmed social systems and most importantly, understand that they are a valuable contributor to our society.

Vision: A community supporting people living in poverty to discover their purpose and develop their full potential.
Our facility at 10 Cork Street East, now our permanent home - is an invaluable resource in the work we do. Thanks to its size and layout we were able to safely keep our doors open to the public throughout the pandemic. For many struggling with social isolation the face to face interactions have been life saving. Our location in downtown Guelph has allowed us to meet many of the community needs, which were amplified by the onset of COVID-19. An increase in poverty and addiction, and a decline in mental health occurred throughout the community. HOPE House was easily accessible to our community being located in the downtown core, close to other community services and public transit routes.

The onset of COVID-19 pushed us to be flexible and innovative with our programming. As we emerge from this pandemic, we will continue to explore new ways to offer programs and services that will help people discover their purpose and develop to their full potential.

Our community’s recovery from the long-term effects of COVID-19 will not be easy, but with your generous support HOPE House will continue to offer immediate relief and ongoing support to members of this community who need it most.

Thank you for joining us in building a healthier, stronger, and more compassionate Guelph.

Mission: With the goal of a greater level of independence for every person living in poverty, we provide tangible, compassionate assistance and care to those in Guelph and abroad through immediate relief and ongoing support.
With the announcement of the first provincial stay-at-home order in March 2020, HOPE House modified its programs to ensure everyone remained safe. We transformed our community breakfast program into a takeaway breakfast program that ran four days a week to make it possible for food insecure individuals to have a healthy, nutritious start to their day and changed up our food market operations. All this was done to ensure that the Guelph community could continue to access critical poverty relief services.

On April 4, 2020, HOPE House moved its food market appointments to 100% home delivery in response to the government’s stay-at-home advisory. Thanks to a dedicated team of HOPE House volunteers, and partnerships with Linamar, Triumph Tool, Sleeman, Trillium Rotary Club and Kiwanis, and teachers HOPE House was able to complete 100 grocery deliveries per week.

Because we believe that dignity comes with having choice, we decided to connect with every person who had a food market appointment to take their grocery order by phone. This required a team of volunteers to place outbound phone calls, pick orders, pack orders and deliver groceries to homes.

By June we had mastered our sanitation protocols to the point that we felt confident with returning to in-person food market appointments. Using physically distanced stations throughout our café, individuals were able to place their grocery orders. This multi-step process has evolved over the year and currently operates as follows:

1. Community member checks in at reception and is provided with a face mask if needed.
2. Receptionist provides community member with a highlighter, grocery order sheet and a table sign with a number so that food market volunteers can easily identify where to deliver the order without breaking privacy.
3. Receptionist sets community member up at one of the physically distanced stations and assists individuals with completing order if needed.
4. Once order is complete, receptionist takes it to the food market.
5. Food market volunteer picks the order and puts items into a sanitized grocery cart.
6. Food market volunteer brings the order to the station where the community member is seated.
7. Community member packs their own groceries and provides feedback to the volunteer on their needs.
8. Community member takes their groceries home.
9. Receptionist sanitizes station, grocery cart and highlighter in preparation for the next appointment.

Kathy’s Story

Kathy James has a wonderful ability to see how things work together and is tireless in her service to others. Since 2017, she has volunteered at HOPE House in almost every different role. She is well known for being quick on her feet, a problem-solver, sounding board, and innovator. Kathy is truly a one of a kind volunteer that HOPE House is so grateful to have. Recently, she helped develop our grocery delivery process and put together an incredibly smooth, detailed and flawless process on a very short timeline.

Kathy’s commitment goes beyond the planning. She trains Food Market volunteers, is on the phone calling grocery recipients, organizes grocery orders and oversees all the details of the process, such as when to pack, how to pack, how to colour code for drivers, when the drivers should arrive, and more.

We are beyond thankful for Kathy's passion for HOPE House and our community. We wouldn’t have been able to move to home grocery delivery without her.
Your support meant better access to mental health supports

In May 2020, the Children’s Mental Health Ontario (CMHO) and Addictions and Mental Health Ontario (AMHO) released the Ipsos Public Affairs Annual Mental Health Index survey that shows almost three quarters (74%) of respondents feel that Ontarians are experiencing increased mental health and addictions challenges as a result of COVID-19. Two-thirds of Ontarians (67%) feel that the mental health impacts of COVID-19 are going to be serious and lasting.

At HOPE House we take mental health seriously and have partnered with Five Star Relationships to ensure that everyone had access to counselling virtually, over the phone and in person throughout the pandemic. Clients who participated in this program have seen positive changes in their lives including improved relationships, increase of helpful coping strategies, improved mood and increased emotional safety and security knowing they have someone to connect with to help walk with them through their journey of healing and growth.

"A community member came in with overwhelming levels of anxiety which prevented her from working. Together, we were able to sort through the underlying feelings and make sense of what issues caused and maintained her anxiety. She has since been able to gain awareness of her emotions and regulate them before they become overwhelming. She no longer tries to avoid or numb her feelings but accepts them as an important part of herself. With the increased ability to navigate her emotions, she has been able to rejoin the workforce."

Wellness Box Story

Humans are social creatures, and many people have experienced or continue to experience anxiety, loneliness and depression due to this pandemic. The Wellness Project was created in March 2020 by The Community Company, in partnership with HOPE House, to alleviate some of the mental health consequences of COVID-19 in our community.

The Wellness Project delivered 550 no-charge Wellness Boxes in April and May 2020 to HOPE House community members, brightening the day of people most impacted by the ongoing crisis.

Every Wellness Box includes healthy fruits, mental wellness activities and a gentle reminder to the recipient that they are loved. The Wellness Project has brought an incredible amount of joy to those who received a box.

“During times like this, the only person I talk to is my 4-year-old. It made me feel thought of and appreciated even though I’m a single mom. This made me feel like people do care about other people, especially when times are hard!”

“We are incredibly grateful to have partnered with HOPE House on The Wellness Project. When our community felt most isolated in the early days of the pandemic, HOPE House stepped up and helped us create our most successful Community Project to date. We also couldn’t have done this without our community stepping up and purchasing the 550 Wellness Boxes we gifted to HOPE House,” shared Justin, Founder of The Community Company.

It’s an ideal location for our work because it’s walkable for many, accessible via local transit, and in the heart of Guelph’s vibrant downtown core. Now with a permanent home, HOPE House and the people we serve can rest assured that our services will continue there.

A key part of our mission is to be a community space where everyone is welcome, where they can socialize, feel connected and included. This is why our building is such an important part of who we are.

In addition to the community space, HOPE House now has ample room to grow our Food and Clothing Market Programs, ensure suitable, private spaces for our ongoing support work and mentoring programs with community members, host community events, explore interesting partnerships and shared space opportunities to strengthen our work.

The COVID-19 pandemic gave us an opportunity to complete many facility upgrades, improving accessibility, safety and program delivery.
Pam’s Story

Pam Urry has brightened peoples’ lives at HOPE House from the very first day she opened the HOPE Stylin’ Hair Salon. Pam’s hair salon is a safe place where individuals can find hope, and a welcoming smile and begin to look and feel like themselves again. Pam’s infectious and caring personality has a far-reaching and memorable impact on her clients, who in turn always make her life better.

Although the salon started from, “absolutely nothing” according to Pam, Derrick Rutherford and Julio Rodriguez at Valentini Hair Design saw the transformational work Pam was doing and wanted to help. They generously outfitted her with a proper hair salon. With this assistance, and Pam’s hairstyling skills, the HOPE Stylin’ Hair Salon helps people feel good about themselves. Pam says that when her clients experience a little human touch during their hair-wash and look at themselves in the mirror after their haircut, they leave her salon “a little bit taller, and a little bit happier.”

Pam is a selfless, caring individual who shows up every Wednesday at HOPE House and without fail, brightens her client’s day and makes Guelph a better place. Pam could not imagine what the city would be like without HOPE House, and her experiences here have changed her life.

Bob Moore’s Story

Bob Moore, who has held almost every role at HOPE House over the last 9 years, ended his journey at HOPE House as the Ongoing Support Manager on March 31, 2021.

Bob says it was a privilege to be part of an organization that places such a high value on the dignity of, and service to, members of the community who are often pushed to the side.
